FIVE FAVORITES WIN.

PRINCE ROYAL BEATEN BY TRISTAN.

LONGSTREET RUNS A FAST MILE-RECKON'S EASY VICTORY. The racing at Gravesend yesterday was not of a sort that will go thundering down the ages.

was no thronging in the grandstand, in the betting ring or in any part of the grounds. Bookmakers were unhappy and backers of favorites were gleeful, five out of six first-choices crossed the finish line in front. One incident of the afternoon that will dwell in the memories of all was the defeat of Prince Royal by Tristan. Coffee, Casey, H. Jones or the Archbishop of York could ride Prince Royal better than Garrison has been riding him since the Brook lyn Handicap. The Prince was well ridden in that but since then he has been so messed about that the poor creature must wish that he were dead every morning when he wakes up. No one in these days ventures to dispute the truth of the axiom that a straight line is the shortest distance between two It is equally clear and equally certain that Prince Royal in proper condition and properly ridden is a better racehorse than Tristan. And yet the shrewd coterie behind Tristan (and there has never been a shrewder turf coterie in any country in the world) backed Tristan with as much con-tidence as if Frince Royal had broken all his legs. This coterie made him the favorite, to the unbounded amazement of most of the spectators, who knew that Prince Royal is the better horse. Garrison kept Prince Royal in last place for nearly three-quarters of a mile. On the lower tarn, in the last half mile, Taylor, who rode Tristan extremely well, suddenly rushed Tristan into the lead, while Garrison sat gaping on Prince Royal's back and doing nothing. In the homestretch Garrison tried to make up the lost ground, but he had allowed Tristan to get too long a lead. Taylor outrode him in this race in a style similar to that in which Mc-Laughlin can outride a stable-boy. If August Belmont had lived, and Hamilton had continued to ride Prince Royal, the Prince would have had a far differ- THIRD RACE-MAY STAKES. For two-year-olds; $50 ent record this year.

Bolero was withdrawn from the first race, and Reckon, at 2 to 1 and 5 to 3 on, won under a pull. Little Stevenson could have won with Guilty on Monday, if he had not pumped out the filly in the first half mile. Yesterday he was more patient and Guilty won as she liked. The fourth race was a mere gallop for Sir John. Carroll had no speed, and Lepanto got the place.

Yesterday, to even up matters, he dropped the flag for the fifth race when King Mac was so far in the lead that Lester, the favorite, who was carrying 121 pounds to King Mac's 113, had no earthly chance to get up. Only one favorite out of six was defeated. This was Lester, and his defeat was wholly due to the weetched FOURTH RACE-BROOKDALE HANDICAP.

Mr. Pulsifer may well be afraid to run Tenny against Longstreet, and may well prefer to make a circus horse of him in a Buffale hippodrome, for Longstreet is today a better racehorse than Tenny. Pessara had done so fast work that he was backed all over the ring with amazing confidence to beat Longstreet in the last race although Longstreet was carrying only five pounds more than weight for age by the regular schedule, and Pessara was carrying three over. So Longstreet was really conceding only two pounds to Pessara. Pessar set the pace, and made it fast, in the hope of puttin Longstreet on tiptoe to catch up, but he only exhaust ed himself. He ran swiftly and well, but his bolt wa shot in the last furleng, and he came in fourth. Long street was carrying 131 pounds to Strideaway's 119 and Strideaway was in his best form yesterday. He was never better in his life. But Hamilton's rare skill got Longstreet home safely in the fast time of 1 42 1-2, although Strideaway was uncomfortably close Drizzle surprised everybody by running third. Fairy Was lame,
The track was faster than on any previous day, and good time was the rule.
It was learned last hight that James McLaughlin,
the jockey, was recovering from the congestive chilis
which had prostrated him.

After a long delay at the post the flag fell with Pessara and Charley Post in front and Longstreet in the rear

Hamilton exercised sublime patience, improving his position so gradually that Longstreet never feit the exer-tion. Charley Post and Pessara raced each other to a stand-still by the time the head of the stretch was reached, and still by the time the head of the streen was reached, and Strideaway moved into the lead. Longstreet came after him, and by one of the finest exhibitions seen in the saddle in many a day Hamilton landed him winner on the post by a short neck; Strideaway second, three-quarters of a length before Drizzle, who showed astonishing speed in the last furlong.

A BRILLIANT PROGRAMME.

RACELAND, DIABLO, RILEY AND STRATHMEATH TO RACE TO-DAY.

One of the most attractive programmes of the meeting is offered at Gravesend to-day. Bright stars shine in every race, and if the sport is not of the highest quality, big reputations and great popularity go for nothing. In the opening race some lightning sprinters will appear. Diable, Reclare and Riley are in the second. Some of the promising youngsters are in the May Stakes and the penalty on one-eyed St. Florian is such as will bring the others so nearly up to his level that a close and exciting contest should ensue. Raceland makes his bow to the public in the Brookdale Handicap. Tenny was not entered in this stake. By the way, Mr. Puisifer takes "little swayback" to Buffalo on June 5 to run him against Ten Broeck's record at one mile. In the last race some good three-year-olds will meet and Strathmeath will be seen on the track for the first

POOLROOMS THRIVING AGAIN.

ALL THE NECESSARY INFORMATION RECEIVED IN GOOD TIME.

The "commission" men are in the seventh height of oy. They believe that they have finally and decisively turned the tables on their inveterate enemy, Philip J. Dwyer. Yesterday the police were imprisoned in the imvesend pastures for the regulation two hours, while Pinkerton detectives were strewn all over the tracks in reckless profusion, yet somehow the "commissioners got all the news they wanted, and got it nearly time. All the preliminary facts, such as scratching, jockeys, runners, and bettings were duly to hand for each race before the horses went to the post; the descriptions of each race were given with promptness and accuracy, while, strangest of all, the official placing and timing were received within ten minutes after winner's name had been called out.

David B. Mitchell, the wire chief and actual head of the Western Union's burean, professed a most ingenuous innocenc on the subject. He admitted that "I think we shall have no further trouble in getting information while the Brooklyn meeting lasts," said Mr. Mitchell, " although I cannot say what is doing and how it is being done. The Western Union are taking no action in the matter beyond opening an office outside, and transmitting information. Our wires were tampered with two days in successon, and we have sent a gang of men down to Gravesend to protect our prop-erty, as we had a perfect right to 2. That is all the action we have taken or intend to take in the matter.

McLaughlin was much better yesterday. It was his brave effort to reduce to riding-weight that made He was in no condition to ride Tournament on Monday and should never have taken the mount On that afternoon he weighed 116 pounds stripped, and must have been out of his head. It is said that in a delirium he agreed to ride in the Great American stakes for half a dozen different owners and trainers "Matt" Allen, who is his friend, took him home and he imagined that Allen had turned against him and did not want him to ride. Mr. McLewee insisted that he should not train down till the weather grew warm, but McLaughlin would have his own way. It is believed that he will be all right in a few days.

OLD MORTEMER SHOT AT BROOKDALE. Old Mortemer is dead. He was led out like a soldier and shot. For over a year he had been an invalid, and t was to put an end to his misery that Mr. Withers permitted him to be destroyed.

Mortemer was twenty-six years old, and died full of honors. On the racecourse and in the stud he was one of the great horses of the century. Pierre Lorilhard imported him about twelve years ago, buying him of Count Lagrange for $25,000. He ran forty-eight races in his career on the French, German and English

COMMON WINS THE DERBY IN A CANTER THE RACE RUN IN A DRENCHING RAIN-GOU VERNEUR SECOND, MARTENHURST THIRD.

London, May 27 .- The Derby, the great classical ace of the English turf, was run to-day at Epson As usual, the course was crowded with all classes and conditions of people, from members of the highes aristoracy to tipsters and hangers-on of the stables The road from London to the course was filled with vehicles of every description. Dashing along wit jangling harnesses came splendid four-in-hands, oaches filled with handsomely dressed women and the escorts. There, too, were many vehicles of a by-go age, whose motive power had long ago outlived it period of usefulness. Much badinage was indulged i by the occupants of the vehicles, and all were happy for they were soon to see decided the race of race the great Derby, in which every Englishman, no matte in what part of the world he may be, feels interested The conditions of the race were as follows:

The conditions of the race were as follows:

The Derby Stakes, of 5,000 sovereigns for the winner; 500 sovereigns for the nominator of the winner; 500 sovereigns for the owner of the second, and 200 sovereigns for the owner of the second, and 200 sovereigns for the owner of the third; for three-year-olds; colts nine stone, fillies eight stone nine pounds, by subscription of fifty sovereigns each, half forfeit if declared by the first Tuesday in January, 1891, and ten sovereigns only if declared by the first Tuesday in January, 1890; any surplus to be paid to the winner about a mile and a half, starting at the High Leve starting post, (203 subscriptions, 108 of whom past twenty-five sovereigns each and forty-four ten sovereigns each). Closed July 9, 1889.

against Gouverneur; 5 to 1 against Martenhurst. The weather was cool and showery. Just before the race a heavy shower set in, and the race was run in a drenching rain. After the horses were at the post the first attempt to get them away resulted in a false start. At the next attempt they got away splendidly. The Deemser went to the front and set the pace for a quar-Common, was close up, however. Coming down Tatter Dorcas, who had now been joined by ham Hill, Common improved his stride and forged ahead s they entered the straight. When the distance poswas reached he drew clear of all the others, and, com ing on, won in the commonest kind of a canter, Gon verneur second, Martenhurst third. Cuttlestone ran fourth. Simonian, though ridden hard, was the last horse throughout the race.

Common was trained at Kingsclere by John Porter who has been in high feather this spring, so many winners having come from his hands. For a time Common was looked upon as a "rank outsider," the betting against him at the beginning of April being 50 to 1. The odds laid against him grew less and less, however, and finally the betting fraternity came to the conclusion that he was a formidable candi date, though at that time he had never been seen on a racecourse. When he afterward won his renowned victory in the Two Thousand Guineas he at once jumped to first place for the Derby. On public form his chances were undeniable, the belief being that nothing that ran in the Two Thousand Guineas could beat him at Epsom. Still, rumors were affect that his forelegs were ill-adapted to the Epsom hill. The ability of a horse to win the Derby is shown by his capacity to come down the descent from Tattenham Corner successfully. This is the point where many otherwise sure winners have come to grief, and the saying of experts is that "the Derby is generally won by the horse that strides furthest down the hill." Common came down the hill in the Abington Mile Hottom at Haymarket in the Two Thousand Guineas in good shape, and this is a place which finds out a horse that cannot act down hill, as it seemed to find off Orvisto. Common's performance on this occasion foreshadowed his ability to overcome the difficulty at Epsom. nowned victory in the Two Thousand Guineas he at

It is the intention to send Common over to France to compete for the Grand Prix. He will then be put by for the St. Leger. If this idea is carried out he will miss the Eclipse Stakes.

THE PITTSBURG TROTTING RACES. crowd at Homewood Park to-day, but they were not treated to anything of special interest, as the two races for the second day of the meeting were quickly over In the 2:20 pace the favorite, G. R. S., who sold at 11 to 5 over the field, romped away in the lead for three heats, and had only to beat 2:20 in the first one, when J. K. made a rush on the homestretch. After that it was anything on the chestnut gelding, and there was nothing to make him extend himself. A favorite went down in the 2:22 class, when Annie Wilkes failed to get a beat after selling at 5 to 3 over the field. Dandy, a local trotter, did the trick in three heats, though he was unsteady in the second, and should have been beaten, had not the others been even worse off. John Dumer, who drove Wilkes has not been formally suspended from any track but the one at Philadelphia. The second and third heats were close, but Dandy was clearly ahead each time.

Thursday, the pacers and trotters each have a race, both being the 2:25 class. Summaries:

THE HARVARD POSITION STATED. A REPORT ON THE BASEBALL TROUBLE WITH YALE MADE TO THE CHAIRMAN OF

THE ATHLETIC COMMITTEE. Cambridge, Mass., May 27 (special).—The following report to the chairman of the Harvard Athletic Comnittee explains fully the position of the Harvard representatives in the recent difficulty about baseball games. They felt it just to themselves that a full explanation should be made public. Cambridge, May 27.

Professor J. W. White, Chairman Harvard Athletic Com-

Dear Sir: The Harvard representatives, invested by your committee with full power to adjust, if possible, the existing difficulty in baseball between Yale and Harvard, submit the following report:

submit the following report:

In response to the request of several of our graduates in Now-York, we went to New-York, and met there Mr. George Adee, to whom we submitted the following proposition, with the request that he would lay it before the Yale athletic authorities, namely: That Yale and Harvard, following the precedent established in track athletics should enter into a nine years' arrangement for an annual series of four games of baseball and for an annual game of football; that if these arrangements should prove ac ceptable to Yale Harvard stood ready to play Princetor ceptable to Yale Harvard stood ready to play Princeton this year in baseball, each college being left free to make such engagements as it pleased with other colleges in the future. We suggested further that a committee from Yale, with full power, meet a similar committee from Harvard at Springfield, May 28, to consider this proposition.

In answer to telegrams from Mr. Adee and Mr. Camp, we met those gentlemen at Springfield yesterday. They, however, did not come with full powers to act for Yale, but suggested that Harvard play two games of ball with Yale this year, and one with Princeton, without considering any arrangements for the future. To this we could not consent. We said that in making our proposition we were willing to assume that Harvard's undergraduate representative had given an in making our proposition we were willing to assume that Harvard's undergraduate representative had given an unwarranted assurance in March that Harvard would play Princeton this year; that such assurance was reasonably believed by Yale's undergraduate representatives to be given with authority, and that Yale, acting on such assurance, signed her agreement with Harvard, and subsequently made arrangements with Princeton theoretics. and subsequently made arrangements with Frinceton which might not otherwise have been consummated, although on all these points there is room for grave doubts.
We said, further, that the Raseball Advisory Committee and the Athletic Committee were ignorant of this f May 6, declining our invitation to play a se alleged assurance until after the receipt of Yale's letter of May 6, declining our invitation to play a series of four games, and believed, when the undergraduate's agreements with Yale and Princeton were cancelled, that those agreements were understood by all concerned to be provisional and subject to ratification by the Ath-letic Committee, in accordance with a rule of many years' standing, which requires all undergraduate schedules to be approved by that committee in order to be final. As we were ready to make all the assumptions just mentioned in favor of Yale, and thus to make all honorable amends for any possible injustice to Yale caused by our caneliation of the Princeton-Harvard provisional arrangement, of the difficulty of this year an arrangement by diplomatic negotiations, with all their attendant evils, might be reduced to a m.nimum hereafter. We pointed out that such an arrangement was only a formal recognition of the established custom by which Yale and Harvard meet in all the sports every year; that both university in all the sports every year; that both universities were left with a free hand as to making engagements with other colleges; that if Yale objected to the hardship of playing two series of games annually, one with Princeton and one with Harvard, unless the latter also played two series, it would always be possible under this arrangement for Yale to ascertain Harvard's intentions before committing herself to games with Princeton. We attempted also to make it clear that Harvard's attitude toward Princeton elements friendly, and that we saw no reason why is altogether friendly, and that we saw no reason why Harvard should not play games of ball with Princeton hereafter in the same manner that she played with other colleges; but that we were unalterably opposed to any arrangement with Yale conditioned upon natural pledges to play or not to play with any third college. Respect-J. B. AMES.

Hits the nail on the head one of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They do the right thing in the right way. They cleanse and regu-late the liver, stomach and bowels -thoroughly and effectively, but mildly and gently. They persuade, rather than force. One tiny, sugarcoated Pellet's a gentle laxative; three to four act as a cathartic. They're the smallest, but the best. There's less to take, but there's more good in it, when it's taken. They're the original Little Liver Pill, and they've never been equaled. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved, and cured.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, because they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.
